

SEACOAST CANNON COLORING BOOK BY BRIAN B. CHIN

The big seacoast guns thunder once again. From the decorated brass cannon of Spanish New World, to the powerful iron guns in the American Civil War, to the complex disappearing guns of the turn of the century, to the huge guns of steel and armor in World War II, this detailed picture book shows how coast artillery once protected American shores from enemy attack. This second edition brings to life the coast defenses that today remain as empty forts and batteries with our national, state, and local parks. The author, Brian B. Chin, is a well-known author and artist that has produced several works on military fortifications. This coloring book allow a new generation to learn the history of American seacoast defenses while having fun coloring in this 52-page softbound book. It is hoped that book will help generate interest in preserving and interpreting these historic sites for future generations.
